2. OBJECTIVE

In order to enable NBFCs to adopt best practices and greater transparency in their operations, RBI has, in terms of the provisions of Chapter XI of the Directions require all applicable NBFCs to frame internal guidelines/policy on Corporate Governance.

3. Governance structure

Regulators

Janakalyan, being a company incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956, and deemed to exist within the purview of the Companies Act, 2013; and registered with the Reserve Bank of India as a non-banking financial company- microfinance institution (NBFC-MFI), has two main regulators, viz., the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) and RBI.

Shareholders

The major shareholders of the Company include corporates and high-net-worth individuals.

The Board of the Company is responsible to all stake holders including the shareholders. The Company's business is conducted by its employees, managers, and officers, under the direction of the Chairman and Managing Director (MD), with the oversight of the Board to sustain and enhance the long-term value of the Company for its shareholders.

Delegation & Representation

Any shareholders can be represented by another person at the AGM, even if they are not a shareholder. The representative powers must be conferred specifically for each meeting, which can always be revoked should the represented person attend the meeting in person.

Minutes of meetings

The deliberations and resolutions at the meeting shall be recorded in a minute's document. The minutes should correctly reflect all matters discussed and be approved at the Annual General Meeting and also record the participation of the shareholders.

Board of Directors

It is the body responsible for administering the organization with all necessary powers. Good governance, therefore, places an emphasis on the importance of the Board of Directors as a governing body which channelizes the structure and operation of the organization in its best interests.

In terms of the Company's Corporate Governance Policy, all statutory and other significant and material information is placed before the Board to enable it to discharge its responsibility of strategic supervision of the Company as trustees of the Shareholders.

According to the provisions of the Act and Article 59 of the Articles of Association of the Company, the Board of the Company will have at all times a minimum of two Directors and the total number of Directors shall not be more than 15.

The structure of the Board will seek to be balanced in terms of member experience, qualifications, and independence so as to effectively undertake different tasks and inherent responsibilities.

Also, it will be ensured that no member of the Board is involved in any legal procedure on the grounds of prohibition or incompatibility.

The shareholders of the company will be responsible for determining the exact number and composition of Board members at the Annual General Meeting, subject to applicable legal regulations, and to the institution's byelaws.

Duties & Responsibilities

In accordance with the provisions of Section 166 of the Companies Act, 2013 and as a matter of corporate governance, the directors of the Company will have the following duties:

- Helping define the strategy that will increase the institution's value, guiding the management by assimilating information that affects the organization's performance and overseeing a planning document and annual budget for the following year.
- Reviewing the Management's performance consistent with the organization's objectives
- Formulating the remuneration policy with an emphasis on how this policy is related to the performance of key members of the management

- Ensuring that the management team has all necessary resources to implement and achieve organization's goals
- Establishing a policy-based governance system to guide its own actions and the actions of the management for achieving the business and social goals of the organization.
- Defining the Board's method of operation, i.e. the number of members, their selection, evaluation and changeovers or rotation, to ensure a robust structure.
- Reviewing all risks faced by the Company and making appropriate strategies for implementation of appropriate policies to ensure risk mitigation.
- Ensuring compliance with applicable laws, regulations, policy and processes and also supervising the internal control systems of the organization through internal and statutory auditors.
- Establishing a code of ethics for all employees, including the board members and also ensuring adherence to such code of ethics.
- Establishing a mechanism to manage a situation fairly where employees as well as directors may have a direct or indirect conflict of interest, or conflict, with the interest of the company.

Appointment/Re-election

The appointment and re-election of the Board of Directors fall within the ambit of the Annual General Meeting. Once chosen, the Board members must exclusively represent the institution's interests. They must perform their duties in good faith, objectively and independently, with due care and diligence, so that their decisions are always aimed to serve the institution's best interests.

The resolutions that the Board of Directors adopt in relation to the re-election of members and its deliberations in this regard shall take place in the absence of the Director whose re-election is proposed. If the Director is at the meeting, he must leave the room. Where established in the country's legal regulations, the appointment of Directors will also be subject to approval from the regulatory or supervisory body.

Duration of Office

Directors shall remain in office for the term defined by the Annual General Meeting. If they have been co-opted, they shall work out the residual term of office remaining in respect of the director whose vacancy they have covered through co-option, unless the AGM establishes a longer term on ratifying the appointment agreed by the Board of Directors.

Directors shall remain in office until their successors are chosen, unless their powers are revoked or they are disqualified for any reason.

End of Term

Directors shall resign from their office when the term for which they were appointed has expired, or when the Annual General Meeting decides so. The Board of Directors has the power to revoke a member at any time, even if their term of office has not expired.

When a Board member ceases to occupy his position before his term of office ends, through resignation or any other cause, he must explain the reasons in a letter to all of the members, and, regardless of whether this end of term of office is reported as a significant event, the reason should be included in the Annual Corporate Governance Report.

Remuneration

The Annual General Meeting must establish the remuneration policy for the Directors, taking the necessary measures in order to maintain, correct, or improve it and to adapt this policy to the principles of moderation and the institution's performance. The remuneration that the Board members receive must be transparent. The Board of Directors must include information on the total and global amount that the Board members receive in the annual information and in the Annual Corporate Governance Report.

Board Procedures

The Company's Governance Policy requires the Board to meet at least four times a year. The intervening period between two Board meetings shall not exceed 120 days as per the Companies Act 2013. The annual calendar of meetings is broadly determined at the beginning of each year.

Board Meeting Agenda

Meetings are governed by a structured agenda. The Board members, in consultation with the Chairman, may bring up any matter for the consideration of the Board. All major agenda items are backed by comprehensive background information to enable the Board to take informed decisions. Agenda papers are circulated at least seven working days prior to the Board meeting.

Good Governance in Management

A good governance practice advocates a full separation between administration and management duties so that each body carries out its duties with the highest efficiency. The Board of Directors is responsible for the general strategy, control, and supervision.

However, the separation between management and governance duties and administration duties should never result in important decisions or measures being taken by the institution's management bodies without the Board's knowledge and consent.

Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer

The Managing Director and the Chief Executive Officer are the institution's legal representatives. They are appointed by the Board of Directors and shall be responsible for putting in place procedures to implement all the Board's policies, strategies, and systems.

They will actively participate in the sessions, with the right to speak but not vote, in order to give their input on the items of the agenda or any other matter requested by them.

Committee of Senior Executives

It is a Senior Management Committee formed by the CEO of the Company. The members of the committee are selected by the CEO and should be AVP level (Assistant Vice President) or above. Other senior members may also be invited based on the topics of discussion. The Senior Management Committee shall be responsible for making strategic as well as other material decisions of the Company.

All the members of the Senior Management Committee shall review Company performance at least once every month. The representative of each department in the Committee presents their monthly updates to the other members of the Committee.

Board Committees

To focus effectively on the issues and ensure expedient resolution of diverse matters, the Board constitutes a set of Committees with specific terms of reference/scope. The Committees shall operate as empowered agents of the Board according to their charter/terms of reference.

The Companies Act, 2013, requires the Company to constitute an Audit Committee, Nomination, and Remuneration Committee and Corporate Social Responsibility Committee. In compliance with the applicable provisions of the Act and RBI Guidelines.

The terms of reference, roles, and responsibilities of the aforesaid Committees will be further aligned based on the changes in the guidelines and business requirements with the approval of the Board.
